FINDINGS, CONCLUSIONS, AND RECOMMENDATION OF THE UNITED STATES MAGISTRATE JUDGE

Christopher Brian Colbert, a Texas prisoner, submitted a pro se petition for writ of habeas corpus under 28 U.S.C. § 2254 in the Southern District of Texas relating to convictions in Dallas County. See Dkt. No. 1. The Southern District of Texas transferred the case to this district. See Dkt. No. 5. And United States District Judge Ed Kinkeade referred Colbert’s petition to the undersigned United States magistrate judge for pretrial management under 28 U.S.C. § 636(b) and a standing order of reference.

Colbert filed a motion for leave to proceed in forma pauperis (“IFP”), but the motion was deficient because it did not attach a certificate of inmate trust account (“CTA”). See Dkt. No. 18. The Court issued an order requiring Colbert to file an amended IFP motion with the CTA attached. See Dkt. No. 21. And in response, Colbert filed a second IFP motion asserting that he is unable to obtain a CTA without a court order. See Dkt. No. 24 at 2. But the motion does state that Colbert receives $100 per month from his sister. See id. at 1. The undersigned enters these findings of fact, conclusions of law, and recommendation that the Court should deny the IFP motion; order that Colbert pay the filing fee; and, if he fails to do so within a reasonable time, dismiss this action without prejudice for failure to prosecute and obey an order of the Court.

The IFP statute, 28 U.S.C. § 1915, “was designed to ensure that litigants would not be deprived of meaningful access to the federal judicial system due to their financial circumstances.” Bucklew v. St. Clair, No. 3:18-cv-2117-N-BH, 2019 WL 2250886, at *2 (N.D. Tex. May 15, 2019) (citing Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 324 (1989)), rec. accepted, 2019 WL 2249718 (N.D. Tex. May 24, 2019). But, to gain access, “[a] litigant seeking IFP status must submit an affidavit identifying all assets he possesses, as well as a statement that he is unable to pay the necessary fees of bringing a federal civil action.” Smith-Garcia v. Harrison Cnty., 776 F. App’x 226, 227 (5th Cir. 2019) (per curiam) (citing 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(1)).

The Court must then examine the financial condition of the applicant to determine whether the payment of fees would “cause undue financial hardship.” Prows v. Kastner, 842 F.2d 138, 140 (5th Cir. 1988). “This entails a review of other demands on individual [applicants’] financial resources, including whether the expenses are discretionary or mandatory.” Id.

And, while “[t]he term ‘undue financial hardship’ is not defined and, therefore, is a flexible concept[,] ... a pragmatic rule of thumb contemplates that undue financial hardship results when prepayment of fees or costs would result in the applicant’s inability to pay for the ‘necessities of life.’” Walker v. Univ. of Tex. Med. Branch, No.

1:08-CV-417, 2008 WL 4873733, at *1 (E.D. Tex. Oct. 30, 2008) (citing Adkins v. E.I. DuPont de Nemours & Co., 335 U.S. 331, 339 (1948)); see also Williams v. Louisiana, Civ. A. No. 14-00154-BAJ-EWD, 2017 WL 3124332, at *1 (M.D. La. Apr. 14, 2017) (noting that the applicable standard “requires a showing of more than an inconvenience to the applicant” (citations omitted)).

For inmates, the amount of money available in their prison trust account or from other sources should be considered. See Prows, 842 F.2d at 140; Simon v. Quarterman, No. 3:07-cv-1793-D, 2007 WL 4167943, at *1 (N.D. Tex. Nov. 20, 2007); see also Williams v. Spencer, 455 F. Supp. 205, 209 (D. Md. 1978) (“[W]hether the litigant is ‘unable to pay’ the costs [associated with initiating a lawsuit also] ... depend[s] in part on [the] litigant’s actual ability to get funds from a spouse, a parent, an adult sibling, or other next friend.”).

Although Colbert did not file a CTA, he attests in his motion that he receives $100 per month from his sister. See Dkt. No. 24 at 1. As the filing fee for a habeas case is just $5, even though Colbert is incarcerated, this verified financial information reflects that he can afford to pay that filing fee without incurring undue financial hardship. See N.D. TEX. MISC. ORDER NO. 6, Rule 2a(4)(a)(ii) (May 5, 2005) (this Court routinely grants leave to proceed IFP if “the average six month balance of [an] inmate[s] trust account and other financial resources are less than Fifty Dollars”).

Recommendation

The Court should deny Petitioner Christopher Colbert leave to proceed in forma pauperis, see Dkt. Nos. 18, 24, and order that he pay the $5 filing fee within 21 days of any order accepting or adopting this recommendation (or within some other reasonable time to be set by the Court), and, if he fails to do so, the Court should dismiss this action without prejudice under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 41(b) without further notice.

A copy of these findings, conclusions, and recommendation shall be served on all parties in the manner provided by law. Any party who objects to any part of these findings, conclusions, and recommendation must file specific written objections within 14 days after being served with a copy. See 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1); FED. R. CIV. P. 72(b). In order to be specific, an objection must identify the specific finding or recommendation to which objection is made, state the basis for the objection, and specify the place in the magistrate judge's findings, conclusions, and recommendation where the disputed determination is found. An objection that merely incorporates by reference or refers to the briefing before the magistrate judge is not specific. Failure to file specific written objections will bar the aggrieved party from appealing the factual findings and legal conclusions of the magistrate judge that are accepted or adopted by the district court, except upon grounds of plain error. See Douglass v. United Servs. Auto. Ass'n, 79 F.3d 1415, 1417 (5th Cir. 1996).
